How are Saints Canonised and what is the process?

We're glad you asked!

This is a timely question with the upcoming Canonisation of Blessed Carlo Acutis (and others) and which our parish is celebrating on September 7th – please refer to article in this bulletin to find out more.

All Christians are called to be saints. Saints are persons in heaven (officially canonised or not), who lived heroically virtuous lives, offered their life for others, or martyred for the faith, and are worthy of imitation.

To establish who will be recognised a Saint, the Church always uses a canonical assessment:

while in the past it was possible to become a saint simply by popular acclamation, since at least the 16th century the Church adopted specific rules to avoid confusion and abuse.

The Dicastery for the Causes of Saints is the Vatican department responsible for investigating the lives of candidates for sainthood - searching their character traits for Gospel values, so that every Christian can see them as credible witnesses and, above all, worthy of imitation. Behind the proclamation of sainthood lies a scrupulous collective effort that can last for decades.

Once the cause has begun, the person is called a Servant of God, for whom there must always be an authentic, widespread, and lasting “reputation for holiness”; that is, the common opinion that his or her life was upright, rich in Christian virtues, and fruitful for the Christian community.

In official Church procedures there are three steps to sainthood:

a candidate becomes "Venerable," then "Blessed" and then "Saint."

Venerable is the title given to a deceased person recognised formally by the Pope as having lived a heroically virtuous life or offered their life.

Beatification is the intermediate stage towards canonisation. If the candidate is declared a martyr, they immediately become Blessed; otherwise, a miracle attributed to their intercession must be recognised, in addition to recognition of heroic virtue or offering of life.

Canonisation requires a second miracle after beatification. The Pope may waive these requirements. A miracle is not required prior to a martyr's beatification, but required before canonisation.

How are these holy souls celebrated in the Church’s Liturgical Calendar?

There are three designated rankings or classifications: Solemnities, Feast Days and Memorials

Solemnity	a feast day of the highest rank celebrating a mystery of faith such as the Trinity, an event in the life of Jesus, the Blessed Virgin Mary, or important saints. Observance can begin on the vigil. The Gloria and Creed are always said.
Feast Days	are of second importance for the celebration of certain saints like the feast of the Archangels or most of the Apostles. Saints are remembered with special mention, prayers, and possibly a scripture reading. Gloria is required, but not the Creed.
Memorials	are next in ranking and either obligatory or optional. Obligatory memorials must be observed whereas optional memorials do not have to be observed. Only the memorials of those saints who are of “universal significance” are observed by the whole Church and marked in the general liturgical calendar. Gloria and Creed are not required.
